WALKING TOUR OF MPW

Enjoy a 30-40 minute tour of the main property. Learn the historic significance of the Augusta wine growing region, the history of Mount Pleasant Winery, and MPW's role in designing this region. Due to our unique soil and climate, the quality of wine's produced here continue to win awards. See the working areas of MPW and experience the beauty of its topography.

Built in 1859 by George and Frederick Munch, MPW currently farms 85 acres of vines. The original century-old underground hand dug cellars are still in use, the "Oven House" where bricks were baked, and the still used to make brandy for port are all included in tours of the property. In 1980, before Napa, before Sonoma...our wine-growing region of 14 square miles became America's First Wine District. To us the California wine makers are the new kids on the block!
